Sister Euphrasia Kelly

On November 13, 1904, Sister M. Euphrasia, formerly Anna Kelly of Chicago, died at St. Elisabeth's Hospital, Chicago, after having undergone an operation. She was in the thirty-sixth year of her age and the ninth of her religious life, and had been employed as teacher during the greater part of her religious career. In her association with others this good Sister always showed great consideration and kindness and never was heard to make a retort when found fault with or when misunderstood by superiors or companions. For several years a great sufferer from bodily ailments she was patient and uncomplaining during her illness, yielding to an operation only when she learned that there was no alternative. Her sufferings just before her death were intense and we hope they procured for her a speedy entrance into heaven.
